Cushion features*

Cushion filling - Foam inserts

Available with high density or medium density. High density foam is used usually for seats and medium density foam for back rest cushions.

Available: 25mm, 50mm, 75mm, 100mm, 150mm

In contrast cheap patio cushions made from polyester fiber only will flatten very quickly with the time. Foam inserts will last for many years.

This type of cushion fillings are made for indoor and outdoor use.

Cushion filling - Polyester fiber

Layered poly fiber filling. This fiber is produced in different thickness and is stuffed in the cushion until the desire firmness is achieved.

This type of cushion fillings are made for indoor and outdoor use.

“Dacron wrapping” is a polyester fiber layer (batting material) that covers foam insert for cushions. It is recommended for any cushions. It rounds out edges; it makes the cushion a slight bulge and fills in the fabric cover. It gives the cushions tight look (no sagging). Dacron wrap will not offer real support, it makes more aesthetic look.

There is no need to decrease size of the foam to make allowance for the Dacron wrap as it gets easily squeezed between the cover and the foam.

Piping finish

This feature reinforces the cushion edges, it also has been said to add a nice finished look to the cushion.

Ties

Matching fabric ties can be inserted within the cushion's seams. These ties are often on each corner and at the hinged or fold of the cushion. With the fabric ties, customers can easily secure their patio cushions to their outdoor furniture.

Button Tufted cushions

This look is achieved by inserting plastic buttons into the cushion. These buttons are tightly held together with a piece of outdoor grade string in between. By doing this, the cushion can be turned over for the same look on both sides. Inserted buttons will draw the fabric and cushion filling in for a tufted appearance. Besides creating a specific look to the cushion, this also assists with keeping the cushion filling in place.

Cushions covers are not removable.
